

As we reflect on Civic Theatre’s 2024–2025 season - IGNITE, I am filled with gratitude for the countless ways our community has shown up for live theatre. Our 24-25 season was a celebration of collaboration, resilience, and creativity. Every production, from Main Stage to our Youth Theatre performances, has reminded us of the power of storytelling to bring people together, spark conversations, and create lasting memories. Community theatre is not built by one person or even one group, it is built by many hands and hearts working side by side. Volunteers, artists, audiences, donors, students, and staff have all played a vital role in shaping this year. Because of you, Civic Theatre continues to thrive as a place where artistry meets community, where every voice has the chance to be heard, and where the magic of live performance is shared across generations.

This Impact Report highlights the spirit of Civic Theatre: all the dedicated volunteers, donors, and sponsors who keep the shows going. It is inspiring to see the growth and reflect on the hard work and passion that have fueled our theatre’s success. And we are not slowing down! Thank you for believing in Civic Theatre and for investing in your local arts. Together, we are not just producing plays and musicals, we are elevating culture, nurturing talent, and creating a legacy of theatre that will impact our community for years to come.

With gratitude,
